WHO WE ARE

About Kafe Koko

Every cup tells a story of dedication, craftsmanship and the vibrant culture of Kenya.

Welcome to Kafe Koko, where every cup tells a story of dedication, craftsmanship, and the vibrant culture of Kenya. Founded with a passion for excellence and a love for coffee, Kafe Koko brings the world the finest premium roasted Kenyan coffee.

Quality is the cornerstone of Kafe Koko. From the moment the beans are picked to the final roasting process, we ensure that every step meets our rigorous standards. This allows our expert roasters to bring out the rich, complex flavors inherent in Kenyan coffee, creating a product that is both distinctive and delightful.

That philosophy reaches you as two signature roasts — a bright, fruit-forward Kenya AA and a rounded, chocolate-rich Espresso Blend — batch roasted at our Nairobi roastery and released only after they have been cupped and signed off in our own tasting lab.

Kenyan coffee

Grown in Kenya, milled in Kenya, roasted in Kenya.

Batch roasted

Each coffee to its own profile on a Giesen drum roaster.

Cupped before release

Scored on our own table, batch by batch.

WHAT WE STAND FOR

Our promise in every bag

MISSION

To put the finest premium roasted Kenyan coffee into the hands of everyone who loves it — with the care, consistency and craftsmanship that Kenyan coffee deserves.

VISION

To be the name the world reaches for when it reaches for African coffee, and to carry the reputation of Kenyan growers with it.

OUR VALUES

Quality is the cornerstone

Every step from picking to the final roast is held to one rigorous standard. Nothing ships that has not been tasted.

Kenyan to the core

Kenyan coffee, roasted in Kenya, by Kenyan hands. The flag on every pack is not decoration — it is the supply chain.

Craft, not commodity

Batch roasting on a Giesen drum roaster, with a roast profile built for each coffee rather than one setting for everything.

Consistency you can re-order

A cafe menu depends on the cup tasting the same in March as it did in January. Our cupping table protects that.

Partnership over transaction

Grind, pack size and delivery rhythm are set with each account, not imposed on it.

Respect for the grower

Great roasting cannot rescue an average cherry. We start from coffee that is already worth the work.

THE KAFE KOKO PROMISE

If it has not been cupped, it does not ship.

THE ORIGIN ADVANTAGE

Why Kenyan coffee

Kenya does not grow much of the world's coffee. It grows some of the most wanted.

Kenyan arabica is prized for a clarity and brightness that is difficult to find anywhere else: a juicy, blackcurrant-like acidity over a dense, syrupy body. That character is not an accident of marketing — it is the product of four conditions that meet on the slopes around Mount Kenya and the Aberdares.

ALTITUDE

1,400 - 2,100 m

Cool nights slow the cherry, concentrating sugars and acidity.

SOIL

Volcanic red earth

Deep, free-draining and mineral-rich - the classic Kenyan highland terroir.

VARIETAL

SL28 & SL34

Kenya's celebrated cultivars, selected for cup quality over yield.

PROCESS

Fully washed

Double fermentation and clean water, then patient sun drying on raised beds.

READING A KENYAN GRADE

What the "AA" on our pack means

Kenyan coffee is graded after milling by screen size — the diameter of the bean itself. AA is the largest regular grade, retained on a screen 17/18. Bigger, denser beans carry more of the sugars that survive the roast, which is why AA lots command the top of the Nairobi auction.

- AA Screen 17/18
- AB Screen 15/16
- PB Peaberry
- C Screen 14

HOW WE WORK

From cherry to cup

Six controlled steps stand between a Kenyan hillside and the bag on your shelf.

01

Select

Green coffee is sourced against cup profile, not price alone. Lots are assessed before purchase.

02

Grade & store

Beans are checked for screen size, moisture and defects, then held in conditions that protect them.

03

Roast

Batch roasting on a Giesen drum roaster, each coffee to its own profile - medium for Kenya AA, dark for the Espresso Blend.

04

Rest & degas

Fresh roast is carbon dioxide. Coffee rests so the gas can settle and the flavour can come forward.

05

Cup & approve

Every roast meets the cupping table. Fragrance, flavour, acidity, body, balance and aftertaste are scored before release.

06

Pack & deliver

Sealed into one-way valve bags as beans or ground, in 375g, 500g or 1kg, and dispatched.

Where the flavour is actually decided

Green coffee holds the potential. The roast decides how much of it you taste. At our Nairobi roastery each batch runs on a Giesen drum roaster — a machine built for control rather than volume — so the roaster can hold the bean at the point where sugar development peaks and bitterness has not yet set in.

Kenya AA is taken to a medium roast that protects its bright, fruit-led acidity. The Espresso Blend is carried further, to a dark roast that builds the caramel and chocolate weight an espresso needs to stand up to milk. Two coffees, two profiles, two different jobs.

Giesen	2	Batch	Valve
DRUM ROASTER	DEDICATED ROAST PROFILES	ROASTED, NOT CONTINUOUS	ONE-WAY DEGASSING ON EVERY PACK

ROAST CONTROL

Two coffees. Two profiles. Never one setting for both.

QUALITY CONTROL

The cupping table

No batch of Kafe Koko reaches a customer before it has been tasted, scored and signed off.

Cupping is the coffee industry's standard method of tasting, and it is deliberately unforgiving. Ground coffee is weighed into identical bowls, covered with water at a fixed temperature, left to steep, then broken and skimmed. Tasters slurp from a spoon so the liquid aerates across the whole palate, and score each sample blind against the same attributes.

WHAT WE SCORE ON EVERY BATCH

- Fragrance & aroma
  Dry grounds, then the crust at the break.
- Flavour
  The character in the middle of the palate.
- Acidity
  Brightness and structure - not sourness.
- Body
  Weight and texture in the mouth.
- Balance
  Whether the parts hold together.
- Aftertaste
  What stays, and for how long.
- Sweetness
  Evidence of ripe, well-developed cherry.
- Clean cup
  Freedom from taint, first sip to finish.
- Uniformity
  Every bowl of a lot tasting the same.

The point of the lab is repeatability. A cafe builds a menu, a price and a reputation on a cup tasting the same every week. Cupping is how we make that a promise rather than a hope.

OUR COFFEE

Two roasts, one standard

A house coffee with Kenya's signature brightness, and an espresso built for milk. Both in beans or ground, in three sizes.

All packs are sealed foil with a one-way degassing valve and carry the Kenyan flag band.

PACKAGING & FRESHNESS

Built to keep the roast alive

- Sealed foil pouch
  Blocks light and oxygen, the two things that flatten a fresh roast fastest.
- One-way degassing valve
  Lets carbon dioxide out without letting air in - the mark of coffee packed fresh, not stock-piled.
- Kenyan flag band
  Every pack carries the flag, because every bean in it is Kenyan.
- Beans or ground
  Ground to your brew method on request, or whole bean for your own grinder.

375g

The everyday retail pack - the format most homes and cafes re-order.

500g

For heavier households and small offices.

1kg

Volume format for busy kitchens, offices and trade accounts.

RECOGNITION

Judged against the field

In November 2023 Kafe Koko was entered into the Kenya Beverage Excellence Awards — a national judging of Kenyan drinks brands — and came away recognised in the category that matters most to a roaster: the coffee itself.

KENYA BEVERAGE EXCELLENCE AWARDS . 2023

First Runner-Up

Most Preferred Coffee Beans

Awarded to "Roasted Coffee – Kafe Koko" . 10 November 2023 . Weston Hotel, Nairobi

The certificate, back at the roastery where it was earned.

Why it matters. "Most Preferred Coffee Beans" is not a judgement of packaging or marketing spend — it is a judgement of the bean. Placing in that category tells a buyer the thing a brochure cannot: that independent palates, tasting across the Kenyan market, put this coffee near the front.

OUR PEOPLE

The hands behind the roast

A small, trained team that roasts, cups and packs every order that leaves Nairobi.

Kafe Koko is a hands-on operation. The same people who load the roaster sit at the cupping table, and the same people who score the cup seal the bags. That short loop is deliberate: a problem is caught by the person who can fix it, on the same day, rather than discovered by a customer weeks later.

Food-safe practice runs through the floor — hair covering, gloves and branded work wear are standard in the roastery, the cupping lab and the packing area. It is an unglamorous detail, and it is one of the first things a serious trade buyer checks.

Roasting

Loading, profiling and dropping every batch on the Giesen.

Quality & cupping

Scoring each roast before it is cleared for packing.

Packing & dispatch

Weighing, sealing and preparing orders for delivery.

WORK WITH US
